听写正文 / QUESTIONS 01–30

P01 Happy Friday, Fri-yay! I'm Coy Wire with your CNN 10 minutes of news. And before we get to the weekend, let's finish this week strong. Big stories, big questions, and thousands of people throwing tomatoes at each other. Yeah, we've got you covered.

P02 Today on The 10, we start with a major legal development that could change the landscape of social media. Facebook and Instagram parent company, Meta, has agreed to pay roughly $18 billion to resolve a multi-state lawsuit claiming the company intentionally designed [01] _____ that harmed young people's mental health.

P03 The settlement involves dozens of states and [02] _____ and requires Meta to make changes aimed at protecting users under the age of 18. Our Claire Duffy explains what could change and what it can mean for millions of us who scroll, swipe, and share. Hello, Claire.

P04 Hey, Coy. Yeah, this really could be a [03] _____ in how young people are protected on social media. These are the kinds of changes that parents and advocates, and even some teens themselves, have been calling on the social media platforms to make.

P05 Now, Meta agreed to this settlement midway through a trial where just four of those state attorneys general had been seeking as much as $1 trillion in [04] _____. That would have been a huge number. This $18 billion settlement is still a really significant number.

P06 Some of these state attorneys have pointed out that this is the largest settlement with a big tech company in history. That money will go towards helping the states fund youth mental health programs, [05] _____. But even more important here, I think, is the changes that Meta has agreed to make to its platforms.

P07 I'll walk you through some of those. Teens ages 13 to 17 will now have a two-hour [06] _____ across Facebook and Instagram. Only parents will be able to change that.

P08 These platforms are also implementing a night mode, so teens will be unable to access them from midnight to 6 a.m., a school mode, so teens will be getting fewer [07] _____ throughout the day. Meta is turning off likes on teens' content and removing access to extreme beauty filters. And it will also send teens prompts every 15 minutes to make them think a little bit more about how much they're using these platforms.

P09 And very importantly, Coy, both Meta and the state attorneys general here are calling on TikTok and YouTube to make similar changes. Meta has said, we'll pay 70% of this $18 billion sort of upfront, but the other 30% is [08] _____ TikTok and YouTube making similar changes. The state attorneys general have said they are willing to go after those platforms in court if they don't come to the table [09] _____ to make these changes to their platforms.

P10 So this really could be a [10] _____ in terms of changing how young people are able to interact on social media. Coy?

P11 This next report comes with a warning. We're going to show images of a deadly natural disaster that some of you may find difficult to watch.

P12 If you'd rather not see them, you can fast forward about two minutes. Catastrophic [11] _____, devastated communities along the Nepal-China border, rescue crews are searching for people still missing, the flooding destroyed roads, knocked out power, and entire communities were cut off from help. Our Hanako Montgomery has more on how these floods weren't even caused by rain, but rather a massive Himalayan glacier that collapsed.

P13 Dozens of people begin to run. What comes next in this [12] _____ is hard to imagine. A mountain of mud and water, taller than the building, crashes down, wiping out everything in its path, like something from a disaster film.

P14 But this is a [13] _____ between China and Nepal. It's the result of a deadly flash flood that swept through Himalayan villages on the Nepal-China border on Wednesday. It's enormous force destroying homes and buildings, including in Nepal's Rasuwa district.

P15 Aerial footage captured from a helicopter over the district shows the immense barrage of water flooding the valley below. It's a popular area for hiking holidays. Hundreds of tourists, including foreign nationals, have been reported missing, according to an [14] _____ by Nepal's tourism board.

P16 Nepalese army helicopters are helping rescue citizens from rooftops in the flood-affected areas. The Red Cross is also deploying an emergency team with [15] _____. And in Tibet's Gyirong port, China's President Xi Jinping has ordered all-out search and rescue efforts to find those who are missing after a mudslide caused major casualties, China's state news agency Xinhua reported.

P17 The mudslide has cut off the region's roads, [16] _____, and power, Xinhua said. Nepal's foreign minister said the deadly flash flood was caused by an earthquake, triggering a large landslide which blocked the Bhotekoshi river. The full scale of the devastation is yet to become clear.

P18 Pop quiz, hot shot. What special ability do dolphins use to find objects even when they can't see them?

P19 Telepathy, telekinesis, fin language, or echolocation?

P20 If you said echolocation, yeah that was rough. Dolphins send out rapid clicks and for the echoes that bounce back.

P21 It's basically [17] _____. Our news assistant Ankit says he uses it to find free snacks.

P22 According to Greek legend, Taras, the son of the sea god Poseidon, survived a [18] _____ after being rescued by a dolphin.

P23 Now, thousands of years later, an Italian city named for the fabled figure is returning the favor. Taranto, situated in Italy's heel-of-the-boot region of Puglia, will host Europe's first sea-based sanctuary for formerly captive dolphins. The [19] _____ sanctuary along the Ionian Sea will cover about 7 hectares, or 13 NFL football fields.

P24 Formerly captive dolphins at aquariums will be able to live in a protected section of the actual sea. Think of it as going from a swimming pool to an oceanfront neighborhood. Many dolphins raised in captivity can't simply be released into the wild because they may lack the [20] _____ needed to find food or avoid danger.

P25 So, researchers hope sanctuaries like this can offer something in between human care with floating offices, veterinary platforms, and AI-powered underwater [21] _____ helping scientists study the animals around the clock.

P26 The arts community is [22] _____ the passing of two icons inrecent weeks. Neither seemed particularly interested in being ordinary.

P27 Famed British actor Tim Curry and groundbreaking Japanese artist Yayoi Kusama. Curry became one of the biggest names in Hollywood for his flamboyant characters and unmatched [23] _____. He died Tuesday at the age of 80.

P28 He exploded onto screens with cult classics like The Rocky Horror Picture Show and Clue. He played cranky hotel [24] _____ in Home Alone 2, sailed alongside Muppets as Long John Silver, and terrified folks as Pennywise the Clown. What. A. Range.

P29 Curry suffered a major [25] _____ in 2012 but continued working, particularly as a voice actor.

P30 And groundbreaking Japanese artist Yayoi Kusama spent nearly a century seeing the world differently and invited the rest of us inside.

P31 Born in Japan in 1929, she endured a difficult childhood, working in a military factory sewing [26] _____ for Japan's Imperial Army during World War II. She began experiencing vivid hallucinations as a child, involving dots, patterns, and flashes. But instead of hiding them, she transformed them into art.

P32 Polka dots became her [27] _____, and as my family and I found out, it is magical. Her famous infinity mirror rooms, they allow you to step inside the art. Feels like somebody picked you up and dropped you into another universe.

P33 Kusama passed away August 14th at the age of 97.

P34 All right, today's story, getting a 10 out of 10. It's messy, it's saucy, and it's the only day a year when you can throw your lunch at thousands of strangers and it's apparently encouraged.

P35 Welcome to La Tomatina. Thousands descended on the tiny Spanish town of Buñuel, all for the world's biggest food fight on Wednesday. [28] _____ tomatoes went airborne.

P36 Splat, squish, sauce everywhere, painting the town red, and here's your knowledge bomb. Afterwards, the streets were hosed down, and because of the tomato's citric acid acting as a [29] _____, the town streets were actually left cleaner than before. That's one way to catch up on your cleaning.

P37 It is finally Friday, and before I go, I want to give a shout out, and this one goes to Mrs. Guerrero Medrano at Fly Junior High School in Crystal City, Texas. You so fly, and so am I, because of the coolest poncho I ever did see, and it's good for fishing tomatoes off YouTube.

P38 This next shout out goes to Miss Barnett at Oak Grove Middle School in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

P39 Your former student-turned-fellow teacher, Mr. Oakley, nominated you and wanted to say thank you for your more than 30 years of teaching. Think about all of the lives you have inspired. Congrats on your upcoming [30] _____.

P40 Play that Friday music, Nadir. This is going to be the best weekend, because it's the next weekend. Make your moments count.

P41 Make someone smile, because you never know when or how, but you may be the spark of joy someone needs. I'm Coy Wire, this is CNN 10. It's been a blessing to spend this week with you.
