CNN 10

2026.07.10 / 听力挖空练习

Why do we need eight hours of sleep?

共30题。每空填写原文中的1至3个英文单词；留意拼写、单复数及词形。

方括号[01]为题号，P01为原稿段落号。答案集中在末页，练习时请先遮住。

建议先浏览正文，再配合本期视频听写；完成后重听检查，每题1分，满分30分。

姓名：_____ 练习日期：_____ 得分：___ / 30

依据用户提供的字幕原稿制作，未与视频核验。难度参考雅思听力，采用原文挖空形式，非官方模拟试卷。

听写正文 / QUESTIONS 01–30

P01 What's up, rise up and how you doing? I'm Coy Wire. Welcome to another Summer Friday episode of the best 10 minutes in news, where we catch you up on the week's biggest stories faster than ice cream melting on a sidewalk in July. We begin today with an update on the conflict in Iran and the surrounding regions.

P02 You may remember that Memorandum of Understanding that was signed by the U.S. and Iran a little less than a month ago. Well, at the NATO summit in Turkey this week, U.S. President Donald Trump says that that agreement is over and the two nations have traded a barrage of new strikes that started this past Tuesday. President Trump has now reimposed [01] _____ on Iranian oil sales, a reversal of a key concession that was part of the latest ceasefire.

P03 And in that key body of water we've been telling you about, the Strait of Hormuz, CNN's Pamela Brown got a chance to board the USS Abraham Lincoln and talk to the officials [02] _____ of how to respond in the Arabian Sea as the U.S. weighs up its next move against Iran.

P04 This is one of two [03] _____ in the region. And you see behind me what's called the bridge, the flight tower.

P05 This is where all the shots are called. And you see the planes. Here they are on this deck.

P06 There's F-35s, F-18s, Growlers, E-2s. All of them play certain roles in the conflict. Now, what we know for sure, per a U.S. official I spoke to, is that there will be [04] _____ happening on the USS Abraham.

P07 And in fact, there has already been a shift in [05] _____ in the wake of the Iranian attacks on those vessels. This ship left port early yesterday so that it could be out here at sea and ready to go in case orders are given.

P08 Now to an unforgettable week at the World Cup, where the drama has been thicker than goalie gloves.

P09 After nearly a month of historic moments and thrilling finishes, the final four are almost set. France took down Morocco yesterday to [06] _____ their third straight semi-final appearance. Kylian Mbappe and company have their eyes on a possible 2022 Blockbuster World Cup final rematch with defending champs Argentina.

P10 Allez Les Bleus! They will face the winner of Spain and Belgium who play today for a trip to this year's final. Norway, England, Switzerland, and Argentina will take on the field tomorrow to [07] _____ the final two spots. And the U.S. men's national team saw their World Cup dream end in Seattle on Monday after a 4-1 loss to Belgium.

P11 The game averaged 30 million [08] _____ on Fox, becoming the most watched soccer telecast in U.S. history.

P12 Pop quiz hot shot!

P13 Which animals sleep standing up?

P14 Horses? Elephants? Giraffes? Flamingos?

P15 Standing ovation if you said all of the above! These animals catch Zs on their feet by locking parts of their legs in place, kind of like putting their bodies on airplane mode. It's nature's way of helping them make a [09] _____ if danger comes running.

P16 I got five hours of sleep last night. Last night this is not normal. I got about six and a half hours of sleep.

P17 Last night I slept four hours. I got five hours 45 minutes of sleep last night. I got about five hours of sleep. Usually I try to [10] _____ seven to eight.

P18 It seems like most people are not getting eight hours of sleep. We got a [11] _____ of answers today.

P19 I am on a mission to find out if that's really what we need to do. And I'm bringing in a special guest, Dr. Sanjay Gupta. How are you? Didn't miss this discussion.

P20 Oh man, you are the man I need to speak to. So why eight hours? Is this the [12] _____ amount?

P21 So you know, like most things in life, it's an average. The average is a range between six and ten hours for most adults.

P22 The thing is for kids, it's actually even more than that. Nine to twelve hours for [13] _____ kids and teenagers back to sort of eight to ten hours.

P23 Take us inside of our brains. What happens while we sleep?

P24 Sleep is actually a really fascinating time for the brain. It's kind of interesting because people think it's just at rest. It's actually really active.

P25 And there's several stages of sleep. Stage one, you spend about five percent of your time in stage one. That's the lightest sleep, just sort of [14] _____ to sleep.

P26 Then stage two, a little bit deeper, about 45 percent of your sleep is stage two. Then there's stage three, which is the most [15] _____, about 25 percent. And then there's this really interesting stage.

P27 It's called REM, [16] _____. Literally, your eyes are moving behind your eyelids and that's when you're dreaming. And you cycle over and over again through these stages of sleep, about 90 minutes or so for all the stages.

P28 The other thing your brain is doing is clearing out [17] _____ from all the work that it's done during the day. And I think most importantly for students, that's the time you take memories and experiences from your day and you put them in the long term memory stores. So you can remember these months, years down the road.

P29 So how do I know if I've gotten enough sleep for me, for my body?

P30 So most people generally know because you are probably a little bit [18] _____ than you normally are. You're always cheery though, aren't you? I've never seen you grumpy.

P31 You know, you feel tired. I think one of the biggest tests, someone told me this years ago, is if you put yourself in a darkened room in a comfortable chair and right away you fall asleep within a couple of minutes, that's a pretty sure sign that you're [19] _____.

P32 So give your boy some tips, and all of us, on getting great sleep.

P33 So you're an athlete, probably working out too close to when you go to bed, it's probably going to keep you up. You're sort of stimulating the body. [20] _____ stimulates the body. So in the morning, good idea, but later on in the afternoon, that's probably going to keep you up.

P34 Screens, the [21] _____ alone, is something that's going to keep you up.

P35 It just kind of like wakes your brain up?

P36 Kind of wakes your brain up, yeah. It's like, hey, time to wake up, time to actually do something. I think the biggest thing is the idea of sleeping around the same time and waking up at the same time every day. It's like you're confusing your brain. If you go to bed two hours earlier or two hours later and your brain's like, wait a second, is it time to sleep or is it not time to sleep? I'm not sure.

P37 If you get into a [22] _____ of whatever time, so let's say 11 to 7 every day, you're likely to get good sleep. Your brain's not confused and you can stick with that pattern.

P38 Is that connected to that [23] _____? That's exactly what it is.

P39 And your circadian rhythm can get sort of [24] _____ very quickly. You see that when you travel to LA or, you know, any kind of jet lag. You can essentially put yourself in a jet lag right at home by confusing your brain like that all the time.

P40 If you do nothing else, we'll get rid of the screens for sure. But after that, go to bed at the same time, wake up at the same time.

P41 You know my tip for great sleep? Hang out with people who just put you [25] _____. And for me, you're one of those people. I go to sleep? You're the best.

P42 I'm not sure it's good that I put you to sleep.

P43 What does it mean if I always have a [26] _____ about having a pizza party with unicorns?

P44 I think you gotta get rid of this guy. I think this is why he's doing it to you. He's whispering in your ear.

P45 This summer has been hotter than a jalapeno in a sauna. And speaking of spicy situations, wait till you see this surreal scene that really dialed up the heat in Ohio. A truck hauling thousands of pounds of Frank's Red Hot Sauce sprang a leak near Columbus, Ohio, turning one stretch of the highway into what looked like the world's biggest order of buffalo wings.

P46 I guess that stuff really does go on everything. Officials raced in to contain the crimson catastrophe. Environmental officials determined the spill wasn't toxic, but because it's highly acidic, crews had to keep the sauce from flowing into nearby [27] _____.

P47 No word on how they cleaned it up, but there's a chance someone out there was probably asking, got any ranch dressing? Maybe even some Pepto-Bismol.

P48 Now to a slam-dunk thrift store haul you simply have to see to believe. A teenager in Portland named Quinn Brown was sifting through piles of clothing at his local Goodwill when he spotted a piece of sports history.

P49 Threw it right in front of me, immediately grabbed it, and yeah, one of the best moments of my life.

P50 Turns out the yellow and purple jacket that caught his eye was an authentic warm-up jacket worn by none other than basketball hall-of-famer Will Chamberlain, who still holds about six dozen NBA records. And get this, Quinn was able to buy it for just $3.07. After posting pics online, he caught the eye of luxury auction house Softbees, who professionally [28] _____ this amazing piece of memorabilia.

P51 Saw the text, and he said, your jacket has been matched to the 1972 NBA Finals. And I had known the NBA Finals jersey sold for $4.9 million, so that's the jersey he wore under my jacket.

P52 Now if you want to own this piece of basketball history, you are in luck.

P53 It's currently up for auction, but be warned, this price tag could be higher than Will's scoring records. It's estimated it could fetch up to a quarter of a million bucks.

P54 This week's story is getting a 10 out of 10. You. As we do on every 10th in a month, we are highlighting some of our viewers' top moments of the year so far. Drum roll, please.

P55 Literally, we're starting off with Elliott, who got this slammin' electronic drum kit for his 12th birthday. Happy belated birthday, Elliott. I was gonna tell you a drum joke here, but to be honest, the punchline was a little offbeat.

P56 Up next, Ms. Morey and friends at St. Teresa Regional School in Runnymede, New Jersey. Eighth grade class there ran a lemonade stand every day after school and raised $650 for childhood [29] _____. This was their school's largest service project yet, and holy moly, this was one refreshingly sweet story. You all are the zest.

P57 Well, well, well, the students in the next 10 out of 10 moment dug deep. JFK Middle School in North Hampton, Massachusetts organized a walk-a-thon to raise over $14,000 for the organization Water for South Sudan, and these are the pictures of actual water wells that were built in a local community who now have access to [30] _____.

P58 Truly amazing work. Thank you for reminding us that no matter how far away you are, you can make an impact. That's all for this month's 10 out of 10.

P59 If you want to be featured in August's edition, send us your dubs, your victories, your yes-I-did-its, and your goals all to cnn10 @cnn.com. Go make today awesome. Make someone smile. Help someone who needs it because kindness is contagious.

P60 Remember, you are more powerful than you know. We'll see you next time. I'm Coy Wire, and we are CNN 10.

参考答案 / ANSWER KEY

2026-07-10 · 共30题。以下为对应空格的原文答案；P编号便于回查中英对照稿。

本练习自评时不区分大小写，拼写与单复数须符合原文。每题1分；此分数不换算为雅思分数。

题号	答案	段落
01	sanctions	P02
02	in charge	P03
03	aircraft carriers	P04
04	defensive missions	P06
05	operational plans	P07
06	clinch	P09
07	round out	P10
08	viewers	P11
09	quick getaway	P15
10	shoot for	P17
11	wide range	P18
12	optimal	P20
13	elementary school	P22
14	drifting off	P25
15	restful	P26
16	rapid eye movements	P27
17	waste	P28
18	grumpier	P30
19	sleep deprived	P31
20	Caffeine	P33
21	blue light	P34
22	consistent pattern	P37
23	circadian rhythm	P38
24	messed up	P39
25	at ease	P41
26	recurring dream	P43
27	storm drains	P46
28	authenticated	P50
29	cancer research	P56
30	clean water	P57